APPLYING THERULE OF "OFFEN-SIVE PARTISANSHIP."

The Delicacy With Which the President Balances in Scales Between the Deserving and Undeserving Office Holders—Completing the List of Arthur's appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 15 .- In speaking of the appointment of presidential postmasters made to-day, Postmaster General Vilas said that in addition to the removals made for offensive partisanship, there were ar many more cases in which, after consideration, it had been decided not to remove the postmasters. In those cases, although the evidence of offensive par-Lisanship had been presented, it was regarded as insufficient, the president not being disposed to seize the opportunity for removal, but to require the existence of partisanship to be shown as an undeniable fact. As showing the spirit of fairness and delicacy that had animaspirit of fairness and delicacy that had animated the president in dealing with presidential postmaster; the postmaster general said there were eighteen such presidential appointments made by President Arthur in the last days of his term, in cases where vacancies had occurred, and which had been confirmed by the senste, but no commission had issued. In all of these cases, as a matter of legal right, President Cleveland could have made the appointments, because the act of appointment had not been completed by the issuance of the commissions. But he thought it only considerate and fair that he should give the commissions in comthat he should give the commissions in com-pletion of the act of appointment, and it had been done in all cases but one, and in that case there had been a resignation by the appointee before the commission issued.

Bookkeeper, Who Does Not Want Counsel.

Frinderiffer, June 15.—Joseph F. Cottringer, former secretary and treasurer of the Central transportation company, who is charged with illegally issuing certificates of stock of that corporation, and who was arrested at Bushkilt, on Saturday, was brought here this afternose. He was taken to the office of the company, and there confessed his guilt to the directors, and stated that he did not ask for more a Cottringer was then taken before a directors, and stated that he did not ask for mercy. Cottringer was then taken before a megistrate where testimony was presented, showing the there been an over issue of 30 85 shares of stock, the par value of which over issue is $154,250. When asked by the magistrate if he had counsel, Cottringer replied that he had not, and that he did not wantauy. The magistrate then committed fain in $50,000 to answer at the next term of the court. This amount of security could not be furnished, and Cottringer was sent to jail.

Frank Hatton's New Paper. CHICAGO, June 15.—The Evening Mail, an afternoon penny paper, which for the last six or eight mouths has been a lively competitor of the baily News, has been bought by Frank Hatton and Clinton E. Snowden, who will take charge of their property on Monday. The Mail made a strong bid at one time to become the democratic organ of the city, but fell out with the blike McDonald faction, and conserved to less the city advertising. This loss from extended for some time that the paper, although went agement it will be an independent republican Tener.

An Obio Man Who Cut His Wife's Throat and Then Suicides, Tolebo, June 15.—Arthur B. Walker, a painter, murdered his wife by cutting her throat with a razer, and then suicided by hooting himself through the heart with revolver, sometime during last night. The bedies were discovered at 5 o'clock this after-noon, by a sister of the murdered woman. The letters left by Walker show that jealousy was the cause of the deed.

The Murder of a Wife.

Petersburg, Va., June 15.—Mrs. J. H. Puryear was murdered in Dinwiddie county Puryear was murdered in Dinwiddie county late Saturday night. It is alleged that she was poisoned by her husband, with strychnine administered in whisky. Puryear was arrested, and lodged in jail. They were married a year ago, and lived unhappily together most of the time. Mrs. Puryear was twenty-two years of age. She was a daughter of Duncan Walls. This wideling was to the transform. Webb, of Dinwiddie county. A post mortem examination will be made to-day for the pur-pose of analyzing the stomach of the deceased. The coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. R. H. The coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. R. H. Furyear, who was poisoned, returned a verdiet that she came to her death at the hands of her husband. Puryear had an examination this afterneon before Magistrate Holt Ecisseau, by whom he was committed to jail to await trial. The stomach of the deceased was sent to Richmond to day for analysis. The feeling against Puryear is so strong that some fears are entertained that an attempt will be made to lynch him to-night.

Fiendish Cruelty to Two Children-Escape of the Criminal,

of the Criminal.

Jolist, Ill., June 15.—A case of unparalleled and fiendish cruelty to children has just been discovered in Monee, this county. Mrs. Sophis Hinton, of that place, was recently arrested by Officer Williams, of the Illinois humane society, charged with cruelty to a child and brought to jall in this city to await trial. It appears from investigation that Mrs. Hinton is stepmother to a little boy two years old and a little girl five years old. The little girl begged for food at different houses in the village and told such a tale of cruelty at the hands of Mrs. Hinton that it led to an investigation as to the condition of the boy.

The little fellow was found locked up in an The little fellow was found locked up in an cuthouse, where he had been placed by Mrs. Hinton. He was naked, almost dead from starvation, and so weak that he could not stand. The child's body was covered with scars and bruises, while gaping wounds showed recent beatings. The little one was otherwise horribly maimed in a manner that cannot be described. He had nanner that cannot be described. He had been so long without food that he had eaten the grass which grew under the side of the shed and the hay which formed his bed on

He was taken to a neighbor's house, where for a moment he was left in the doorway. A dish was on the ground near by, out of which the bouse dog fed. Seeing some scraps on his dish the little fellow crawled to it, and when found a moment later he was ravenously eating what the dog had refused. Seeing like ledy of the house carriers was ravend him. cusiy eating what the dog had refused. Seeing the lady of the house coming to ward him and probably thinking she was his fiendish stepmether he made a feeble outery and raised bis small bands as to ward off blows. Both children were cared for. The case was called in court, when it was found that the woman had escaped. A whirlwind of indignation was at once roused and the sheriff, who cannot explain the escape, is bitterly denounced

HARD ON HOGGART.

The Man Who Helped Odlum Make His

New York, June 15.—James Hoggart, who drew the attention of the bridge police to him-self while Professor Odlum made his fatel eap from the bridge last month, was called before Justice Waish for sentence. Justice Waish said: My action in this matter, I think, ought to be such as will deter people in the future from aiding in any way a man who is foolbardy enough to risk his life in jumping from the bridge. Almost every day we see something in the newspapers about some crank who wants to jump from the bridge. I don't know ander the circumstances whether it would be etter for me to impose any less than the full enalty in this case. Under the circumstances, his man losing his life, it ought to be such mishment as will deter anybody else in the nture from doing it.

Hoggart's lawyer repeated his plea for lenieucy on the ground of Hoggart's good character. I will take that into consideration said the court, and make it a term eight months in the penitentiary. A GIRL CHARGED WITH BIGAMY Her Father Applies for Her Arrest-Twice

THE PENN BANK. The Confederates on Trial, With a Poor

Case Against Them PHTSBURG, June 15 .- The trial of William R. Riddle and G. S. Reiber, late president and cashier of the Penn bank, was begun in the criminal court to-day. They are being tried for conspiracy, the charge of embezzlement, on which they were arraigned some weeks on which they were arranged some weeks ago, having apparently been abandoned at present, owing to the faulty way in which the indictment was drawn up. The trial promises to be very sensational, owing to the number of wealthy men directly and indirectly implicated. The defendants are represented by eight eminent lawyers, among them Congressions Bayes, of Pennsylvania, and Congressman Boyle, of Pennsylvania, and Judge Curtis, of New York. The general im-pression seems to be that the prosecution will either break down, or there will be no conviction. The morning session was occupied in

The British Grain Trade, LONDON, June 15 .- The Mark Lane Express in its review of the British grain trade during the past week says: The heavy rain fail dur-ing the week has generally benefitted spring sown grain, which was so backward that the semi-tropical weather which prevailed in the first week of June injured it considerably. The best wheats look exceedingly well, and are growing fast. Trade seems to have colsed. The sales of English wheat during he week were 36,796 quarters, at 33 shillings pence, against 46,066 quarters at 37 shillings spence during the corresponding week last year. Foreign wheat is further depressed. Quotations are nominal. Nine cargoes arrived off coast. Five cargoes were sold. Nine were withdrawn and five remained, including two of Californian. About 57 cargoes are due. At to-day's market there was no demand for wheat, and values were normal. Flour was depressed and flat. Corn was steady.

br. Gladstone Denies That the Liberal Leaders Have Fromised not to Obstruct the Easy Course of the Conservative Ministry-Both Par-ties on Irish Coercion, Etc.

London, June 15 .- The marquis of Salisbury has returned to London. There will be a conference of the conservative leaders this after-The Times says that Lord Salisbury has not accepted office unconditionally. Nothing will e definitely settled until the queen's arrival. The conservatives will require some kind of guarantees from their opponents that they will leave the new government unmolested until the general election. The house of lords this afternoon adjourned until Friday, when the marquis of Salisbury will announce his programme, and probably his ministry.

RANDOLPH CHURCHILL'S PRESENCE.

Lord Randolph Churchill managed to get to the residence of the marquis of Salisbury just before the meeting of the conservative leaders had dissolved. The marquis of Salisbury explained to the meeting the results of his interview with the queen, and hoped that he would have the assistance of his colleagues to form a cabitation. net. The almost unanimous opinion expressed was in favor of acceptance of office by the conservatives.

The lobbies of the house of commons pre-The lobbies of the house of commons presented a very animated appearance this afternoon. There was a renewal of the unfounded rumors that the conservative leaders are experiencing considerable difficulty in forming a cabinet. It is understood that Lord Randolph Churchill and the marquis of Salisbury differ in regard to the necessity for the re-enactment of correct measures in Ireland.

THE DAY IM PARLIAMENT. The Times, in a leading editorial, says it is clearly to be understood that the Salisbury ministry must be a transition cabinet. There is no room for a new departure or policy. It is only possible to engage in legislation looking to a renewal of the coercion laws for Ireland.

Mr. Gladstone was in his usual place in the house of commons this afternoon, and he was greeted with cheers whon he rose to make the announcement that the marquis of Salisbury had consented to form a government.
Mr. Labouchere, radical, asked Mr. Gladstone if there was any truth in the published report that the marquis of Salisbury had only consented to form a conservative ministry when assured of assistance by the present liberal government.

Mr. Gladstone assured Mr. Labouchere that he (Gladstone) was ignorant of the existence of any arrangement whereby the present govrnment was bound by any promise to assist conservative government.

The house then completed the remaining stages of the bill granting an annuity to the Princess Beatrice on the occasion of her mar-riage, and accepted the amendments by the lords to the redistribution of seats bill. On motion of Mr. Gladstone the house adjourned until Friday.

The Times continues to condemn the late government. It publishes a copy of the liberal whip issued for to-day's formal meeting of the house of commons, and says it is precisely similar to that sent out for the crucial division of last Monday night. It says that the whips cryout wolf too often, and by using urgent terms for trival occasions weaken the effect of the summons when a near crisis is at hand.

THE CONSERVATIVE MEETING.

The leaders of the conservative party, including the members of the last Disraeli cab-inet, Colorel Frederick Stanley and Sir Hard-inge Gifford excepted, met at noon to-day in the residence of the marquis of Salisbury. It was 2 o'clock before the company separated. The names of the new cabinet selected will be submitted to the queen upon her arrival at Windsor castle. Lord Randolph Churchill was invited to the meeting, but failed to attend. t is reported that Baron Worms has been bosen for the post of under secretary for foreign affairs.

This incident at the present moment is an unfortunate exhibition of indiscipline. We have no wish either to magnity or minimize its significance, but may prove a useful mishap if it causes the conservative leaders to adopt a tighter hold on the fractious members of the team. INTERESTING INCIDENTS OF THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

Brilliant Exercises of the Junior and Seni reciting Bishop Pierce's Portrait—Mr. R. W. Patterson's Address-Presentation of Medals to the Sophomores,

Macon, Ga., June 15. - [Special.]-Yesterday morning the Mulberry street Methodist church was crowded with a congregation, composed prin-cipally of ladies, to listen to the commencement on preached by Rev. Dr. I. S. Hopkins, presi dent of Emory coflege, before the pupils of the Wesleyan Female college.

The eloquent divine selected as his text the latter part of the twelfth verse of the third chapter of Phillipians: "But I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus."

The preacher's purpose was to describe and commend the ideal Christian life, which he did in a manner deeply impressive.

The music by the choir was appropriate, and exquisitely rendered.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon, the annual meeting of the college missionary society occurred at the college chapel. Rev. Robert W. Mc-Donell, missionary to Mexico, preached the sermon. The exercises were attended by a large congregation, and were full of interest.

gregation, and were full of interest.

An immense audience assembled in the chapel of the college at nine o'clock this morning, to witness the rendition of the junior programme.

Among the young ladies appearing were Misses Harris, Weston, Daniel, Abraham, Graham, Stanley; Miss Lynn Branham, Oxford, Ga.; Miss Annie E Baird, Mobile, Ala.; Miss Emmie Norris, Cartersville, Ga.; Misses King, Cobb, Stewart; Mis Laura C, Brown, Americus, Ga.; Miss Annie Hyer, Oxford, Ga.; Misses Wilburn, Luse; Miss Ada Murphy, Barnesville, Ga.; Miss Berta Hars, Ga.; Miss Edla Harris, Miss Tappan, Miss Mort Murphree, Troy, Ala.; Miss Annie Allen, Oxford, Ga.; Miss Edla Harris, Miss Tappan, Miss Chibe Smith, Jasper county, Ga.; Miss Emma O. Smith, Macor, Ga.; Miss Lizzle Wiley, Troy, Ala.; Misses Wilburn, Abraham, M. Luse.

The csaps were all exceptionally bright and original, and each provoked vociferous applause and a deluge of flowers.

The portrait of Bishop Pierce, which was unveiled in the midst of the exercises, is a fine one. It hangs to the left of Mr. George I. Seney's pottrait, facing the audience.

The Capture of a Bird Family The Capture of a Bird Family.

From the Brunswick, Gs., Herald.

A lady in this city found a nest of grown mocking birds in her yard recons the succeeded in capturing them. They put in a temporary cage and the cage put room. During the day the mother-bird into the room and was readily caught placed in the cage with the brood. She be instantly to feed them with the food was in the cage, and did was in the cage, and diserment on the day following male bird flew into the room and off mistance, nor showed any signs of fight the lady captured him. He was put intrame cage, and the lady now has the earner contented and has singing and feeding the young as though were in their native element. The cap entirely relieved of the care of feedin bird family. The food is prepared and the esge, the mother attends to them.

HARTWELL STIRRED UP.

The Progress of the Holiness Meeting Last Week.

HARTWELL, Ga., June 15 .- [Special.]-Hartwell is waked up in a religious sense. A holiness meeting has been going on in the Methodist church since Sunday, the 7th instant. The folowing ministers have been in attendance: Rev. E. G. Murrah, Harmony Grove: Revs. Parks and Dodge, Gainesville, and Rev. W. O. Butler, Elberton; also two lady evangelists, Mrs. Pringle, of London, and Mrs. Almond, of Atlanta. The sermon delivered by Rev. Parks, of Gainesville, yesterday on the "True standard of Christian eligion" was an able effort, and Iwas followed by a number of conversions, and many claimed the blessing of sanctification. The preacher's con struction, showing how the standard was placed "too high" and too low, and when it was held up at the proper standard was listened to with much interest.

Mrs. Pringle's lectures and talks are filled with the love of God. Her lecture to the Sunday chools yesterday morning was the strongest appeal to the children and grown people to let their light shine that we ever listened to, and the good lady made the lecture more impressive by elling her experience as a servant of the Master in the great city of London by letting her light shine, and the results that followed.

THE LEXINGTON COURTHOUSE. The Kimball Design thosen by the Com mittee, LEXINGTON, Ga., June 15 .- [Special.] -The com mittee on courthouse met as per call of Chairman McWhorter, to receive and decide on designs be fore them. The following architects were present: Mr. Lind, representing a Baltimore fir Bruce, of Morgan & Bruce, Atlanta; Mr. Parkins, of Kimball, Wheeler & Co., Atlanta. These gentlemen all had beautiful designs, and the committee were for some time at a loss to choose be tween them.

After much discussion they unanimously seleced the design as drawn by Messrs. Kimball, Wheeler & Co., with a few changes. The design only faces one front, and as our courthouse is in the square, making four fronts, it will be changed on the exterior so as to conform to the situation. The cash is within the limits of the orders from the commissioners, $20,000.

Marriage in Marietta,

MARIETTA, Ga., June 15 .- [Special.]-The marriage of Arthur E. Davenport, originally from Virginia, now of New York, to Miss Mary Cheek, of this place, was solemnized here Wednesday evening at half-past eight o'clock. It is seldom that one sees in this day of heartless and useless ceremony and form a more beautiful wedding than the one Wednesday evening in the hospitable home of Mr. T. H. Cheek, of Marietta, Under a four-leaved clover," surrounded by the fairest flowers of this lovely city, the handsome young pair plighted their vows, and only loving eyes looked with tenderest love and interest upon them as they thus began their life's journey. By this marriage Marietta loses one of her fairest daughters, and New York gains a Georgia lily. May the transplanting bring long years of health and happiness to Mr. Davenport and his lovely young bride, who bear with them the loving wishes of a host of admiring friends.

A Train-Wrecker Arrested. ALBANY, Ga., June 15. - [Special.] - A negro man named G. W. Abrams, was arrested at Smithville yesterday charged with attempting the wrecking he passenger train near Brownwood near Dawson on Thursday afternoon, by placing an iron rail across the track. He was seen to do the act by two white men who were near by unobserved, who at once gave chase, but he escaped. He was fully identified, however, and was yesterday arrested.

The Second Quarterly Meeting. LEXINGTON, Ga., June 15 .- [Special.]-The econd quarterly meeting of the Methodist church was held at the Glade, in this county, Saturday and Sunday last. Presiding Elder Hammond was present, and preached some most interesting ser ons. It was found that the building would not hold half the crowd, and they will hereafter erect an arbor for such occasions. Rev. J. G. Gibson, of the Baptist church preached a very able sermon here yesterday.

A Train Smashup. McDonough, Ga., June 15 .- [Special.]-At the depot, at this place Saturday night, a freight train an into the back of another standing on the track, which resulted in the total destruction of a cab and three freight cars loaded with various articles. So one hurt.

count of being appointed revenue collector. In the Long Ago.

From the Thomasville, Ga., Times. The new college building just commenced has revived interest in the past of old Fletcher institute and brought up many interesting memories connected with the early history of that institute. Among those of our older citizens who remember much about old Fletcher institute is Colonel William McLendon. When the old buildings were being removed Colonel McLendon remembered that a corner stone had been laid in one of them. On Tuesday morning, in company with the colonel and Mr. Eaves, the contractor, we remained to the demolished building where repaired to the demolished building, where Sam James, the veteran boss, stood ready to remove the brick and mortar which had surrounded the stone for nearly half a century. Mr. G. A McDonald Shot at Three Times and Narrowly Escapes.

From the Albany, Ga., News. We learn from a reliable gentleman of Lee county that that usually quiet county came near furnishing an assassination to the calendars of crime, on Thursday evening. Mr. G. A. McDonald was returning home from his farm about dusk. When within about a mile farm about dusk. When within about a mile and a half of his house, a man stepped out from behind a tree, a few paces distant, and fired at him with a pistol. The mule shied on the appearance of the stranger, disordering his aim, perhaps, and, when the pistol fired, plunged so violently as to throw Mr. McDonald some distance. As the prostrate man was in the act of rising, the wouldbe assassin fired at him twice more. ering from the startled attack and the shoc of his fall, Mr. McDonald drew his pistol and fired five times at the retreating figure, with what effect is unknown.

We are gratified to state that Mr. McDonald sustained no bodily injury, outside of the shaking up given him by the fall. But his escape was a narrow one. His watch chain was shot off, a hole was put through his ves and his handkerchief was riddled.

The perpetrator of this felonious attack is not as safe as he may imagine himself to be It is to be hoped that he will be speedily captured and get the full penalty for his cowardly It will be remembered that Mr. McDonald lost his dwelling house by fire about two months ago. Thursday's attempted assassination may throw some light on that loss. A Family Racket,

From the Rome Ga., Courier.

Friday evening after Reilley Thomas, colored, who lives in the western part of DeSoto, went home to his supper, and finding no meat cooked for his evening's meal, he began raising a rumpus with his better half. In fact, it is alleged that he gave her a good threshing, and she not relishing such treatment, ran over to her aunt's, who lived near by, procured a shot gun with which she fired at him, nar-rowly missing him. He immediately wrested the gun from the hands of the wife of his bosom, and treated her to another threshing

The Georgia Blackberry.

From the Albany, Ga., News. The blackberry brigade was out in force yesterday. The berries were very large and of excellent quality. This berry is not appreciated. A man near Macon cultivates the lackberry, and we have seen specimens of the fruit nearly two inches in length and large around in proportion, while the flavor was correspondingly improved. From the specimens of the wild berry seen in Albany, we are satisfied that, under proper care and cultivation, they could be made to attain a size that would astonish those who have given the subject no thought. the subject no thought.

Our usually quiet settlement was thrown into a fever of excitement this morning by the tragic death of James Dunn, aged about twenty-five. He had been suffering from some mental derangement for some days. He in company with an elder brother started to Summerville this morning, as he imagined, to get his license. Before going far, he decided that he would rather die than marry, and having a gun attempted to shoot himself, a by cocking the gun putting it against his head and pulling the trigger with a stick. It missed fire and his brother noticing secured it. Presently he called the attention of his brother, and as he did so, cut his throat with a razor which he had in his pecket. He ran some distance after cutting himse is before he fell. From the appearance of the wound, it would seem that he made six or seven strokes with the razor ere he fell.

Of the death of Mrs. George C. Clarke in Brunswick, a lady well-known in north Georgia, the Fort Valley Mirror says:

She aitended prayer meeting with her husband—the preacher in charge of the Methodist church in Brunswick—on Thursday, last week, and remained a short while at the church in conversation with some friends. When she returned home, she found her daughter, Emma, engaged in writing a letter to some friend, in which was a humorous account of some things. She read the letter, and being in a cheerful velo, made some suggestions, carrying on a lively conversation for some minutes before become. Soon after retiring, she told her husband that she felt strangely, and feared a return of one of her old spells—she had formerly experienced a tightness across the chest and some difficuntly in breathing—and asked him to light a Bamp. This was done, and some simple remedies administered, which were convenient, without affording relief. Her throat began to fill with phickem, and when he returned, which was but a few minutes, he found her dead. She leaves seven some, W. E. Collier, of this place, and Mrs. De Ju. The above chapters, Mr. Editor, I find in a book recently published by an anonymous author. I have read a deal of sarcasm in my day, but I never read anything equal to the sarcasm harring contained. herein contained. I suspect the experience pertrayed is a personal one; in short, the au-ther intimates as much on page 31. Let me give you a synopsis:
"Malaria," as it etates, is the cloak with "Mslaria," as it states, is the cloak with which superficial physicians cover up a multitude of ill feelings which they do not understand, and do not much care to investigate. It is also a cover for such diseases as they cannot cure. When they advise their patient to travel, or that he is overworked and needs rest, and is probably suffering from malaria, it is a confession of ignorance or of inability. The patient goes abroad. The change is a tonic, and for a time he feels better. Comes home. Fickle appetite, frequent headaches, severe colds, cramps, sleep-lessness, irritability, tired feelings and genlessness, irritability, tired feelings and gen-eral unfitness for business are succeeded in due time by alarming attacks of rheumatism, which flits about his body regardless of all human feelings.

It is muscular-4n his back. Articularin his joints. Inflammatory, my! how he fears it will fly to his heart! Now off he goes to the springs. The doctor sends him there, of course, to get well; at the same time he does not really want him to die on his hands!

That would hurt his business!

Better for a few days. Returns. After a while neuralgia transfixes him. He bloats while neuralgia transfixes him. He bloats; cannot breathe; has pneumonia; cannot walk; cannot bleep on his left side; is fretful; very nervous and irritable; is pale and flabby; has frequent chills and fever; everything about him seems to go wrong; becomes suspicious; musters up strength and demands to know what is killing him!

"Great heaven!" he cries, "why have you kept ne so long in ignorance?"

"Because," said the doctor, "I read your fate five years ago. I thought it best to keep you comfortable and ignorant of the facts."

He dismisses his doctor, but too late! His fortune has all gone to fees.

The cismisses his doctor, but too late! His fortune has all gone to fees.

But him, what becomes of him?

The other day a well known Wall street banker said to me, "it is really astonishing how general bright's disease is becoming. Two of my personal friends are now dying of it. But it is not incurable, I am certain, for my nephew was recently cured when his physicians said recovery was impossible. The case seems to recovery was impossible. The case seems to me to be a wonderful one." This gentleman formerly represented his government in a foreign country. He knows, appreciates and declares the value of that preparation, because his nepbew, who is a son of Dauish Vice Consul Schmidt, was pronounced incurable, when the remedy, Warner's safe oure, was begun. "Yes," said his father, "I was very sceptical, but since taking that remedy the I regret to note that ex-President Arthur is said to be a victim of this terrible disease. He ought to live, but the probabilities are that since authorized remedies cannot cure him, his physicians will not advise him to save his life, as so many thousands have done, by the use of Warner's sate cure, which General Christiansen, at Drexel, Morgan & Co.'s told me to regard "as a wonderful remedy."

Well, I suspect the hero of the book cured himself by the same means. The internal evidence points very strongly to this conclu-

I cannot close my notice of this book better than by quoting his advise to his readers:

"If, my friend, you have such an experience as I have portrayed, do not put your trust in physicians to the exclusion of other remedial agencies. They have no monopoly over disease, and I personally know that many of them are so vary conscientians' that many of them are so very 'conscientious' that they would far prefer that their patients should go to Heaven direct from their powerless hands than they should be saved to earth by the use of any 'unauthorized' means.".

And that the author's condemnation is too true, how many thousands duped, and yet rescued, as he was, can personally testity?

THE GROWING COTTON CROP. The New York Financial Chronicle prints its usual June statement of the cotton acreage stand and condition. It first reviews the crops of 1883 and 1884, and arrives at the conclusion that both crops were put by June rains and floods in conditions to be seriously dainsged by the heat and droughts of July and August. When the early life of the plant has been passed amid excessive rains. says the Chronicle, a drought does it great harm. Fertilization has not changed the vitality of the plant in dry weather, when it has experienced dry weather in May and June. The Chronicle, therefore, takes the broad position that the stand and condition in June very nearly determines the extent of As to the acreage, first. There is always a tendency to increase cotton production in the gentleman a note in which she begged to the south, and in periods of say six years, the figures of increase are surprising. Thus, since the war, the average each six years has been as follows:

For the six years ending with 1872...Bales 3,167,000 For the six years ending with 1878... 4,771,000 For the six years ending with 1884... 6,721,000 In the absence of adversa influences, such as want of cash, greater inducement in other crops and the like, the tendency to increase the crop is shown each year in the acreage. This year, says the Chronicle, there was no inducement to put more land in wheat, there was less debt than usual, because money was so hard to get after last year's panic, and because, too, the southern people had less inclination to speculate. The Chronicle presents these figures of the acreage, based on reports received backed up by the reasons we weather was cold and the planting was late, the crop was, June 1, what may be called a medium one. We do not remember a season for a long time there was so little replanting. Scarcely any frosts have been reported anywhere since cotton was up, while floods, which were so prevalent and disastrous last year, have been of the most limited

3. Condition of the plant, therefore, is now, taken as a whole, very promising indeed—far bet ter than extaer last year or the year before at this date. Expecially is this true of the richest section of the south, where the start in 1994 was so poor. The Ministippi valtey is unusually promising, where a year ago the outlook was so unlavoral it would seem almost impossible with such estart not to moduce this summers considerably in-

The June report of the agricultural department at Wachington does not materially diffe from the Obronicle's estimate. The depertment thinks the increase in cotton ares will be between tive and six per cant. Its estimate of the screage is 18,000,000 ac sa. The plant, it says, is healthy, the i just at present.

growth nearly average and the stand condition in gnod. The average June is higher than in the three preceding years, and taken by states, shows a remarkable uniformity. The condition of the crop in Tennessee is the lowest, and it is only seven per cent below the general average. The national cotton exchange estimates the increase in area at 686,000 acres, or an increase of about four per cent. The weather has been remarkably uniform throughout the cotton belt. East of the Mississippi river the condition of the crop is fully as good or better than last year; west of it the condition is decidedly more favorable, while in the Mississippi bottom there is a marked advantage in every respect.

The three estimates substantially agree The cotton area has been increased not less than 500,000 acres, and the condition of the crop at this midway point in the critical month is the best in several years. The plant is well equipped to meet all the heat and drought that July and August can well supply, for the old tap root is neither wanting nor abbreviated.

NAILING THE SAME OLD LIE.

The New York Independent is a weekly paper, devoted to religion, art, science, literature, patent medicines and finances. It will thus be seen that the Independent covers a large field, and has a resounding name. It discusses all sorts of questions in what is presumed to be the true evangelical spirit, and has a financial department which is generally supposed by those who are cunning enough to know anything about the matter to be conducted on principles of the most virtuous impartiality. The literary department of the Independent is very good, and its religious department is strictly non-partisan, but we have heard some very cruel rumors about its financial department. The current issue of the Independent goes far to verify these cruel rumors, for its financial department contains an article on the new Georgia bonds in which some very old lies are repeated and some new ones invented.

Fortunately, the lies of these Wall street stool-pigeons-and nearly every New York paper employes one or more-can do no harm, but it amuses us to show them up as often as they give us an opportunity.

The Independent declares that the state of Georgia is trying to dispose of her new bonds in New York, and that she is trying to "ring them in" on the savings banks. To say that the financial editor of the Independent wrote in ignorance, is to certify that he is an ass. A more ignorance interpretation would be to say that he deliberately falsified the facts in order to aid Clews.

We take pleasure in assuring the Independent, er, rather, its Wall street stoolpigeons, as well as the Wall street stool. pigeons of the other New York papers, that the state of Georgia, so far from trying to dispose of any bonds, has already disposed of them. The credit of the state is so good, both at home and abroad, not withstanding the efforts of Clews and his coparceners to injure it, that the state has never found it necessary to peddle her securities around in Wall street. Her bonds are away above par. and she is able, on general principles, to whip Wall street in a knock-down and-dragout tussle-catch as catch can, and gouging not barred.

A WOMAN'S EXCUSE.

A correspondent sends us a question, which, while it may seem trivial to many of our readers, is sufficiently interesting to others to warrant some comment. The difficulty is this: A gentleman had an engagement with a lady to accompany her to a picnic. Just before the day, and when the engagement had been in existence several days, the lady wrote leased from her promise to accompany him. She desired to be released, not because she contemplated going with any other gentleman, but because, as it appears, she had been put on notice that she would be unmercifully teased. She tells the gentleman that she knows he will regard her excuse as rivolous, but she assures him that it is very important to her. She tells him, moreover, that it would be "real nice and good" for him to accompany some of the other girls, for she fancies they eye her with some degree of jealously when she is with him. Our correspondent explains that this lady and gentleman have been friends for many years, and that the lady had accepted the gentleman's attentions as a friend on many previous occasions. The gentleman, our correspondent says, interprets the lady's note as an insult. On this matter our correspondt comment," and this condent insists, th ady's note than tha face of it. Such matba regarded from the sense. Although we ondent that they are the lady would not object to any amount of "teasing" on the As to sturity, although the early spring | port of her friends, nor would the gentlean be so sensitive to "insult."

It is perfectly clear to us that the lady nd gentleman are in love with each ther, and that it is their duty to make an engagement for a more interesting affair an a Saturday pienic-an engagement that he lady will be in no burry to break, no matter how much ber friends "tease" her. We shall feel happy to know that THE CONstitution has been instrumental in settling a trival matter by suggesting matrimony. Matrimony is like composition tea. It also had a cartoon representing Mr. Jardine in striped clothes, wearing a ball and chain, breaking rocks in the Monroe, M ., penitentiary. It seems to be admitted by Mr. Jardine's friends that he did, when a boy of seven een, serve a term for burglary, but they claim that he outgrew the errors of his youth long ago, and has since been a good man. THE latest official estimate of the deaths in the mion army during the war foots up in round numbers 360,000. Many prison records are missing and it is therefore impossible to get at the exact number of deaths. New York, of course, heads the list, with a total of 46,534; Ohio comes next, with 5,475; then Illinois, with 34 384; then Pennsyl vania, with 33,183; and Indiana, with 26,672. Mis igan, Missouri, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Iow and Kentucky contributed between 10,000 and 15. 000 each; all the rest, less than 7,000 each. It worthy of remark that every state now in the union, except South Carolina, is represented or the list, and every territory, except Utah. There are only 15 from Georgia, 42 from Virginia, 78 from Mississippi, 141 from Texas, 215 from Florida 345 from Alabama, and 360 from North Carolina Arkansas contributed 1,713, and Tennessee This is exclusive of colored troops, of whom 6,847 died, and does not take in non-combatant of either color. The number of those who are known t have died in captivity reaches the appalling total of 29,498. Another remarkable fact is that over fifty er cent more men were killed in action than fied of wounds, the representative numbers being 62,896 and 40,777. At least three-fourths of the wounded must have recovered, partially at least. o that they did not die during the period cove ed by the inquiry, which ceases with the muster ing out at the end of the war. ECHOES FROM THE PEOPLE. The British Ministry.

Subscriber, Rome, Ga: I have always thought that when the premier of England was defeated in parliament on a measure proposed by him he was, according to the constitution compelled to resign? Is this the state of the case?

It is the custom under the English constitution which is not a written instrument, but a great body of precedents, for the ministry to resign when they cannot command the confidence of parliament. The sovereign then sends for a statesman of the opposition party and authorizes him to form a new cabinet. The ministry when defeated could not carry on the business of the government if they held on to office as the house of commons by withholding support would paralyze all the functions of the administration. The sovereign can also get rid of the ministry by lissolving parliament and appealing to the country at a new general election.

Horse Power Etc.

riber, La Fayette, Ala ,: What is meant by he term horse power? It is a measure by which the capacity of engines is rated established by Boulton and Watt at 33,000 pounds, raised one foot high per minute. Boulton nd Watt allowed in their estimate eight hours as the period of work for a horse. The measure is merely a conventional unit, and is not a very satisfactory or expressive term, as the power of horses differs. You may compute the horse power of an engine by multiplying the effective pressure upon e piston in pounds per square inch by the velocity of the piston in feet per minute, and dividing v 33,000.

welling in Atlanta. Mr. Brown has been several ears in constructing it, and everything has been one in the best manner and with the best mate-al. Hethas himself superintended its construction and has built regardless of cost. The house is used of granite and hard brick, and the wood ised in trimming and the door is the finest hard wood polished to perfection. He has for nonths had wood carvers employed, who have ut exquisite panels, mantles, stair posts, etc. some of the work is marvelous in its beauty. There are six porches about the building with floors set in lovely patterns of tiles. The massive doors, with their costly locks and hinges, are wonders of finish and strength. The fron posts and railings around his steps and encircling the yard were especially cast for him by a special pattern. The basement of the house is of granite. The walls are brick of immense thickness, with wire lathing for the plaster, making the house fire-proof.

The residence is a singular blending of taste and strength—of fashion and solidity—of progress and repose. The individuality of Mr. Brown comes out in every feature of the stately, powerful and symmetrical structure. There is not a slipshod inch in the conception and supervision of a critical master, indifferent as to expense and benut on certain harmonious and well-considered results.

The inner walls are mainly white, but several have been beautifully colored with oil paint with fine effects and in lovely designs. His suite of rooms for his own family, consisting of himself, his wife and a little daughter of twelve years, are at the right of the hall as you enter, and are a model of convenience and beauty. In his own room he has had an alcove specially built for a saite, in which he will keep his valuable collection of autographs, etc. Mr. Brown has now the opportunity in his roomy house to arrange to advantage his costly and varied collection of engrence, soons, coins, chins, autographs, etc.

THE GROWING CROPS.

Monthly Report of the Agricultural Depart-ment of the State. The monthly report of the state agricultural department is out for June. It presents among other interesting facts, the following general points oncerning the growing crops:

The Weather for May.

The mean temperature of the month of May has been four degrees below the average general temperature for this month, as deduced from meteorological observations of ten years, while the rainall has been nearly twice the usual amount, approaching closely to the average for the month of April.

The number of rainy days in the different sections has varied from five to twenty-three—the greatest number occurring in north Georgia, while the heaviest precipitation and largest total rain-fail, contrary to what is usual at this season of the year, has occurred in the more southerly portions of the state. The low temperature has retarded the growth o

The low temperature has retarded the growth of plants and furthered the destructive work of the cut worm, of which there has been much general complaint. But the weather conditions have been by no means as unfavorable to most crops as that of the preceding month. The reports of correspondents show an improved condition for all crops except that of wheat, which is one point below the estimates of last month in the average for the whole state. or the whole state.

Washington, June 15.—Assistant Secretary Fair child to day gave a hearing to persons interested in the duty on broken rice under the new tariff Under the present rule of the treasury depart-Under the present rule of the treasury department the class of rice in dispute is dutiable at 20 per cent ad valorem, as an unnumerated article, and large quantities of it are imported for the use of brewers and others. The rice growers assert that this ruling is unfair to home industries, and argue that the imported article should be assessed at the rate of 2½ cents per pound as an article of food. They ask that the present ruling of the department be altered to accord with their views. Both interests were represented by counsel at the hearing today, and the question was discussed in all its bearings. The decision will be rendered in a few days.

The Georgia Pacific, From the Birmingham Chronicle. In conversation yesterday a prominent official of the Georgia Pacific road said that Birmingham could secure the extension of that road by a small effort. He said that if Birmingham would subscribe $100,000 he could guarantee that the gap in the road would be under contract in sixty-days. He then went on to say that the Richmond & Danville extension the Richmond & Danville extension company would secure the loan until the road was finished and then first mortgage bonds, bearing 8 per cent interest, would be given the lenders. Here then is our opportunity. Those who know anything of the country opened up by this road know that it would do Birmingham more good than anything in which she could invest her money.

All remember what an impetus we received when this road was completed from here to Atlants. All know what a large trade we received from the road almost instantly, although we came in competition with Atlanta, Rome, Auniston and Talladega. How much greater them will be benefit received from that part of the road where we will have little or no competition?

received from that part of the road where we will have little or no competition?

This extension would make Walker and Lamar Fayette and a part of Tuskaloosa ours oy strong iron ties. They would pour into our market all the country produce we could use and take in exchange merchandise of all kinds in triple the quantity now used by them. We will be able then to compete with Memphis even at Columbus, Miss.

"If you want to see something curious," said a friend who was a member of a government survey, 'go down with me to Woodbine." Four miles "go down with me to woodbine." Four miles beyond Woodbine, out on the sandy stretch of old sea bottom or beach that is termed the Cape May Pepinsuls, we came upon Dennisville, where all the Dennises of all time had evidently settled.

"We're all in the loggin' business," said a tall, thin Dennis, yet as far as the eye could reach not a tree could be seen standing that would make even the ghost of a fair log. "They ain't a growin'," continued the man. "They're 'underground. We dig for them, or spear then, as you might say. Here's the tool," and stepping into a low nut he brought out a crowbar that, like everything else, seemed attennated, and stepping into a low nut he seemed attennated, and was stretched out into a long, slender-pointed rod. "We wade along," continued the man, "and probe with this feeler, and when we strike a log, we feel around, and if her soak; that's about the way of it."
"So down in Jersey you burrow for your logs." "That's about it," replied the man. "You know, we're obliged to be a whit odd or so; we've got the name of it, onnyhow."
"The secret of this business," said my friend, the geologist, "is that ages ago all this area was covered with a fine growth of large trees, and the same ser found growing in some parts of the swamp yet, but they have died out and failen down and sunk into the soft mud, and so been covered up by mould and mud, until many other layers have grown over them; but in some remarkable way the wood is preserved, and these and other articles as they were when alive; hence for many years there has been a steady hunt for them, and Dennisville is a result of the industry. To the botanist the tree is the everyreens, the hotanist the tree is the every removed and the remaining the same probably myriads of thems, and Dennisville is a result of the industry. To the botanist the tree is the best, but far be others turned to some and representatives upon or near the surface are the only ones available and fortunately are the best, but far be others turned to some and representatives upon or near the surface and can be cut up and carried on, though in many localities the shingles are made right on the spot and dragged over the swamps on roads, in many cases, made of boughs and twies. This curious business is summer it was menatrous .dry, and after a while the fires began to break cut, and afore we knew it had crept up to within a thousand feet of the house. But we got at it with brush, and, as we thought, put it out, and did, but that night I was awoke by hearin' a crash so loud that you'd a thought the hull house had come down, and when I got out there was a blazing fire right over by may fodder house. I got there in about two minutes, and I tell ye I was scared. There wasn't hide nor hair of the house, but a deep yawnin' hole about fifty foot across, and the Lord knows how deep and burning red hot, just like a volcany. I tell ye I got my folks out or that diggins for a while now. Fortunately it come on to rain next day and soaked it out, and I sin't adrawin' the long bow when I tell you the hull kentry had been tunnelled by the fire. You see, it had crept along under ground for near a thousand feet, eating away the wood, and finally, when it got under the fodder, the weight of the stuff broke the crust in and down it went into a reg'lar pit of fire. I tell you, it was an uncartin place to live on and I was thankful enough that it did't get under the house. We'd never have known what hurt us; we'd just melted dawn quick. Yes, there's heaps of places in the swamp district that's eaten out just the same way. The fire will un along for miles, sometimes, and than crop out where it's least expected. I knew of one case where a party of shinglers left their hut one morning and when they came back it was gone at da fourth of an acre with it. If it had happened twelve hours later they'd have gone in. In the Delaware swamp you will find heaps of such places, and green hands when they go down there always think there has been a vorcany, and so there has, after a fashion."

CLARA BELLE A-SHOPPING.

The Girl Who Bought Her Trousseau From the Man She Had Discarded. From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Let me tell you one thing about shopping, dear reader. There was a clerk behind the counter in the white goods department of a dry goods store. He had the air of a foreign nobleman, with a bewitching admixture of the American dude. The very sight of him was enough to conjure up a halo of romance around his darling, curly little head, In front of that same counter, seated placidly on a stool, was a distinguishedly fashion-young woman. She was making a selection of underclothing; and anybody famil-iar with the beauty, intricacy and cost of the gar-ments now worn by out-and-out swell belies can understand when I say that she seemed to be buyments now worn by out-and-outswell belies can understand when I say that she seemed to be buying everything that struck her fancy, that she was indeed purchasing liberally. But it wasn't possible, I thought that a visibly growing emotion on the part of the pretty clerk was due to the magnitude of the sales. No; nothing directly connected with mere trade, could have so stirred the depths of his delicate soul. He got worse and worse. His hand quivered, his eyes filled with tears, his replies to her casual questions grew more incoherent, and finally, with a sigh that almost rent his moderate buik, and a gaip of his infinitessimal forehead between his trembling palms, he dashed out of the room.

"What in the name of goodness is the matter with the fellow?" I inquired of the superintendent of the department after he had detailed another clerk to attend to the fair customer.

"On the positive quiet," he replied, "I don't mind telling you. The young man is a rejected suitor of the lady. She is going to be married to another. She is purchasing a bridla outfit. To take an active share in the making up of her roussessay."

A Capital Pen Picture.

From the New York Post.
Willis sat opposite Disraeli at Lady Blessington's dinner table, and, under the blaze of lamps, drew this portrait of what he declared to be one of the most remarkable faces he ever saw: "Disraeli is lividly pale, and but for the energy of his action and the strength of his lungs would seem a victim to consumption. His eye is black as Erebus, and has the most mocking and lying-in-wait expression has the most mocking and lying-in-wait expression conceivable. His mouth is alive with a kind of working and impatient nervousness, and when he has burst forth, as he does constantly, with a particularly successful cataract of expression, it assumes a curl of triumphant scorn that would be worthy of a Mephistopheles. His hair is as extraordinary as his taste in waistocats. A thick, heavy mass of jet black ringlets falls over his left cheek almost to his collarless stock, while on the right temple it is parted and put away with the smooth carefulness of a girl's. Disraeli was the only one at the table who knew Backford, and the style in which he gave a sketch of his habits and manners was worthy of himself. I might as well attempt to gather up the foam of the sea as to convey an idea of the extraordinary language in which he clothed his description. There were at least five words in every seatence that must have been very much astonished at the use they were put to, and yet no others could so well have conveyed his idea. He talked like a race horse approaching the wirning post, every muche in action, and the utmost energy of expression flung out in every our. It is a great pity he is not in parliament." Willis certainly spoke with broad penetration in that last sentence. conceivable. His mouth is alive with a kind of

A Great Game and a Good Club-The Nashvilles Downed by 14 to 0, But in Great Shape for To-day's Game-The Record of the Playing —Games Sisswhere—Thres O's.

Atlanta presented her compliments yesterday to the sap-head of the Nashville American.

That gifted ass, who by bragging, slander and misrepresentation, has attempted to berate the Atlantas and the gentlemen that manage them, as received a kull-dugger between his weak little eyes. It does look as if nothing could add empl a score of 14 to 0, the worst beating any club in the league has yet received. It may be well to let the "Melican man" know, however, that not one of his club got beyond second base, while even the Pop and Gos in their ever memorable game did manage to reach third base. This man, who charged that the Atlantas won their nine straight games under Sheridan's umpiring by unfairnes and by collusion, will, we trust, have the grit and the manliness to withdraw that charge, since we have won eleven straight games on four different grounds under three different umpires, closing the eleventh with a score of 14 to 0, against his own team. So much for this little wind-whifte, on a really good paper.

AS TO THE CLUB ITSELF. The Nashvilles are a strong team, and fine fel-lows as well as fine players. The Atlantas might play them a thousand games and never approxi-mate yesterday's record. It was just one of those inexplicable things that will happen in baseball. A great many people think it was a judgment on the Nashville American man. Certain it is that the clubs are about evenly balanced, and that a game between them is anybody's game until the last ball is fielded. To-day's game will prove this. Yesterday the Atlantas played as if by inspiration while the Nashvilles went all to pieces, and could not retrieve the fate that seemed set against

The Nashvilles were upset before the game opened by the sickness of Sowders, their heavy batter and crack first baseman. This necessitated a change of the playing arrangement. Crowel a change of the playing arrangements cover was put in to pitch, Marr was sent to first, Voss to the field, and Cullen put behind the bat. To-day Sowders will play and Voss will certainly pitch, and the team will come up in its best shape. The players are in excellent form and will change yes terday's defeat into victory, or will make Atlanta play better ball than she has ever played before The game will be called at 3:30 this afternoon mmodate the out-of town people who wish to leave on the 5:30 trains. the sap-head of the Nashville American. That gifted ass, who by bragging, slander and misrepresentation, has attempted to berate the Atlantas and the gentlemen that manage them, has received a skull-dugger between his weak little eyes. It does look as if nothing could add emphasis to a score of 14 to 0, the worst beating any club in the league has yet received. It may be well to let the "Melican man" know, however, that not one of his club got beyond second base, while even the Pop and Gos in their ever memorable game did manage to reach third base. This man, who charged that the Atlantas won their nine straight games under Sheridan's umpiring by unfairness and by collusion, will, we trust, have the grit and the manliness to withdraw that charge, since we have won eleven straight games on, four different grounds under three different umpires, closing the eleventh with a score of 14 to 0, against his own team. So much for this little wind-whistle, on a really good paper.

AS TO THE CLUB ITSELF.

The Nashvilles are a strong team, and fine fellows as well as fine players. The Atlantas might play them a thousand games and never approximate yesterday's record. It was just one of those nexplicable things that will happen in baseball A great many people think it was a judgment on the Nashville American man. Certain it is that the clubs are about evenly balanced, and that a game between them is anybody's game until the last ball is fielded. To-day's game will prove this. Yesterday the Atlantas played as if by inspiration while the Nashvilles went all to pieces, and could not retrieve the fate that seemed set against opened by the sickness of Sowders, their heavy batter and crack first baseman. This necessitated a change of the playing arrangement. Crowell was put in to pitch, Marr was sent to first, Voss to the field, and Cullen put behind the bat. To-day Sowders will play and Voss will certainly pitch. and the team will come up in its best shape. The players are in excellent form and will change yes terday's defeat into victory, or will make Atlanta play better ball than she has ever played before, The game will be called at 3:30 this afternoon to accommodate the out-of town people who wish to leave on the 5:30 trains. It will be the great game of the season. Come early and see it all,

The Atlantas,

SKETCHES OF THE LEADING TEAM IN THE SOUTHERN BASERALL LEAGUE. The Atlanta baseball club has become famous not only in all the cities directly interested in the Southern league, but throughout the country Its long lead for the pennant and the series of brilliant victories by which it has forged to the front, have brought the individual members into promineuce in the sporting world and aroused a general interest in personal points relative to them. It has been well said that in no co-operative as sociation are discipline and system more valuable than in a baseball club. It was the good for tune of the Atlantas to begin the season under an excellent manager who knew what his business was and who has done it honestly and industriously. Everybody notices how well the Atlantas play together, and impossible it is to "rattle" them, even under the most discouraging circumstances. The credit for this excellent drill is due to the manager of the team. the manager of the team.

Mr. Schmelz was born in Columbus, Ohio, in 1850, and has been connected with athletic matches of one kind or another since 1867. Mr. Schmelz is a perfect gentleman, a fine disciplinarian, and has the faculty of making friends wherever he is known. As manager of the Columbus, Ohio, club during last season he made a splendid reputation, which is even being eclipsed by his perfect management of the Atlantas. Atlanta is the only club in the association that has not changed managers since the season opened.

THE PLAYERS are all good. They are all young men, and con sequently are not among the veteran baseballists of the country, but there is some as fine material sequently are not among the veteran baseballists of the country, but there is some as fine material and some as -promising players in the Atlanta club as can be found anywhere. In batteries Atlanta is exceptionally strong, being able to prasent a fresh battery in each of the three games in a series, and every day to have it said that the best battery is up. Public favor is about equally divided between the three. Each pitcher and each catcher is a favorite of a large and enthusiastic backine.

EDWARD J. DUNDON, or "Dummy" Dundon, was born in Columbus, Ohio, in 1859. He is a powerful fellow, standing six feet, linch and weighting 175 pounds. He raceived a fine education, and while at school he was distinguished as a bs esball player. He began his professional career last season with the Columbus, Ohio, team and made a brilliant record as a pitcher. This has been increased by his signal success with the Atlantas this season-He frequently plays first base and right field. His home is Columbus, Ohio, and there he spends his time between seasons.

THOMAS J. SULLIVAN was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1861. He is five feet nine inches high and weighs 162 pounds. He appeared first as abseball player in 1883 with the Portsmouth, O. club. Last season he started with the Springfields and finished with the Columbus, Ohio, and there he shall have the season association team. He is noted for his self possess ion in the box, and for his versatility as a pitcher.

Albert Bauer, the left handed puzzler was born in Columbus, Ohio, in 1859. He is five feet the inches high and pulls the seale at one hundred and eighty-seven pounds. His entrance upon the professional diamond was in 1883 with the Bonn bareball club. Last season he played with the same club, but finished the season with Columbus, Ohio, in 1859. He is five feet nine has perfect the inches high and pulls the scale at one hundred and eighty-seven pounds. His entrance upon the professional diamond was in 1883 with the Bonn bareball club. Last season he played with the sea league.

GEORGE W. McVey. holds the hot ones which Bauer sends in: He was born in Port Jervis, New York in 1861. He rises to six feet one inch and weighs one hundred and seventy-nine pounds, principally muscle. Last year he played with the Chillicothe, Ohio, and the Rushville, Indiana clubs. Few men are rising faster in the baseball world. As an "all around player" he is a remarkable success.

John F. Carlin, short-stop is perhaps the door familiar figure to the lovers of the noble game in Atlanta. He was born in San Francisco in 1860. He is Sifect 7 inches high, and weighs 170 pounds. In Oakland Colorado, in 1880 he first appeared as a baseballist. The following year be played through Texas, and then went to Philadelphia. In 1884 he figured conspicuously in the Columbus, Obio, club. John Cahill knows just how baseball ought to be played and puts his knowledge to fine use.

good in all respects it is as "the great slider" that he epjoys a peculiar fame. He is an iron moulder by trade.

Henry P. Bittman, "the mascot," was born in Delhi, Ohio, in 1862. He is 5 feet 8½ inches high and weighs 164 pounds. He started as a ball player in 1881 with the Cincinnati Clippers. The next two seasons he played with the Ravens, of Cincinnati. Last ceason he was with Evansville and Atlanta. The way in which he covers second base is 'a caution," and he is constantly improving. He also ranks high as a "chef de cuisine". Elmer E. CLEVELAND, third baseman, was born in Washington in 1862. He is 5 feet 11 inches, and weighs 188 pounds, being the heaviest man in the team. In 1883 he played ball with the Johnstown, Pa., teem and last season in Oil City and the Cincinnati Unions.

WALTON H. GOLDSEY, left fielder, was born in Louisiana in 1862. He is 5 feet 10½ inches high, and weighs 160 pounds. In 1883 and part of 1884 he played ball with the Evansvilles. Last season he was with the St. Louis and Washington teams. Mr. Goldsby is a great favorite in Atlanta. His father is a distinguished Episcopal clergyman in Arkansas.

Fred B. Jever, centerfielder, was born in Chi-

Atlanta. His father is a distinguished Episcopal clergyman in Arkansas.

FRED B JEWE, certterfielder, was born in Chicago in 1863. He is the smallest man in the team, standing five 'eet nine inches and weighing one hundred and fifty three pounds. He began professional ball in 1883 with the Stillwater, Minnesota. nine. In 1884 he played with the Chicago reserves and with the Daytons. Besides being a fine baseball player he is an expert roller skater, a first-class billiard player and one of the best sprint runners in the country.

The right field is played by one or the other of the three catchers or pitchers when not in their regular positions.

These twelve men put up as good a game of ball as anybody should want tog see, and they are justly appreciated in Atlanta for their excellent playing and their gentlemanly deportment.

Atlanta has never been shut out yet. Nashville s going to try to do that thing this evening. Fowders of the Nashvilles has been sick, but may be well enough to play in one of the games

The way Mappes puts 'em down to second is nly equalled by the way Bittman catches 'em It wasn't a very good day for Dundon. He made only two home runs and pitched one of the best games of his life.

Atlanta will tackle Augusta after two more games with Nashville. The Augustas have been playing superbly for the last two weeks.

The game to-day will put both nines on their mettle. Voss will go into the box for the visitors, and he will pitch at his best as he is now in excellent form.

Atlanta rejoiced last night not over her gallant competitors, but over the ill-natured little "Meli-can man," who has been abusing her without rhyme or reason. Atlanta did very well on yesterday for a "doubt-ful fourth," while crossing bats with a "sure first," didn't she? Sad little, bad little, mad little "Melican man."

Jeves arm was pretty badly hurt by one of Crowell's hardest balls yesterday. He had to retire at the end of the fourth inning and give place in centerfield to Clark. Yesterday was a hard day on the losers There were three "shut outs." Nashville, Birmingham and Memphis all falled to see the home plate. The winners were on their muscle. Wonder if the "little Melican man" was in the Masonic temple in Nashville while the game went over the wires in detail. If so, even his little gall must have softened.

The St. Louis Race ET. Louis, June 15 .- The weather was fine and the track fairly dry at the opening, but the attendance was light. Between the second and third races a very heavy storm occurred The wind unroofed one of the stables and made fragments of the awning from the roof of the betting stand to the fence on the south side. The betting ground was full at the time, and the crowd stampeded in field, where many laid flat on the ground until the wind subsided. Hats, bookmaker sheets, and some money from the mutual stand preceded the crowd across the street.

A PROBABLE MURDER.

Macon,
Macon, Ga., June 15.-[Special.]-A probabl murder was committed here at two o'clock this afternoon. The facts, as gathered from the man who committed the deed and from the officer who arrested him are as follows: J. H. Hightower and a man named Rider are contractors, who have been engaged for some time in erecting a large frame building on Winsdor Hill, between Second and Third streets. Among their employees was a young man twenty one years old, whose name is R. C. Campbell. Last week Campbell complained that Hightower would not pay him for the work he had done, and also said that Hightower had not paid the other employees. Sunday Campbell | became sick and today did not work, but this p.m.he went to the building and sat down in one of the unfinished rooms. Hightower and Rider were in another room talk ing. Soon aiter Campbell entered the building Hightower went into the room in which the for mer was sitting and said: "Campbell, I understand you have been talking about me?"

"Who told you so?" Campbell asked. "Mr. Rider told me," replied Hightower.
"Weil, sir," said Campbell, "what I said I'll say again. You haven't paid me, and you haven't reated me right." "I'll pay you'when I get the money," Hightower "Well," said Campbell, "you haven,t treated Campbell says that this last remark angered Hightower, and he began to curse and abuse the former, and then kicked him on the left side of the head, making an ugly bruise. Campbell jump ed up and was struck by Hightower with a lathe, injuring his left arm, Hightower then tried to seize a piece of timber, but Campbell quickly drew a keen knife and cut him across the stomach from hip to hip. He thea went to his mother's house, which is near the scene of the bloody deed, The wound received by Hightower caused bis entrails to fall out, and some of them were severed. Dr. J. C. Johnson was summoned, and upon examination, he pronounced the wound probably fatal. Hearing of the cutting Lieutenant Charles Wood sent Officers Mosely and Yeager to arrest Campbell, which they did without trouble, although he lives out ide of the city limits. He was locked up in the barracks. Full Sway at Brighton Beach. NEW YORK, June 15 .- The betting men and The Fire This Morning.

An alarm of fire was turned in about two 'clock this morning from box 13, located on Mitchell street, near Whitehall street. It was caused by an incipient blaze in the rear of Bender's meat market, 119 Whitehall street. Patrolman Lynam, who was on the beat, discovered the fire by smelling the smoke and gave the alarm. The timely discovery and the prompt work of the department prevented a big conflagration, as the building is in the middle of the block. The damage was small. The origin of the fire is yet unknown.

Brewer's Lung Restorer

the best lung remedy made. Four of my brothers and sisters had died with consumption, and about three years ago I became so exhausted by a long continued cough, accompanied with low fever and night sweats, that I could barely get about and my friends gave up all hope. I coughed so incessantly that I could not sleep at all. After rying several lung medicines I began the use of

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported in the New York Stock

NEW YORK, June 15.—The new week opened at the stock exchange with a decidedly strong market. Over one-half of the trading, however, was confined to St. Paul, Lackawanna, Western Union and Northwestern, in the order mentioned. At first prices were about the lowest of the day, and the closing sales were made at or very near the highest quotations, the advance being steady and without any important reaction, and ranging from ¼ to % cent, except for St. Paul and Chicago Burlington and Quincy, each of which were 111/2 cents higher. There was very decided strength also in Northwest, which is up % cent. Western Union is up % cent, and is now within a little over 1 per cent of the highest price at which it has sold during the current year. Sales 130,000 shares.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movemen a tr Grain and Produce,

By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, June 15-The wheat market was very nervous to-day, fluctuating rapidly within a narrow range, with prices closing for the day somewhat better than Saturday. The market opened weak under free offerings and prices declined %2 %c, then rallied %e under a sharp speculative demand, stimulated some by damage to crops in the northwest (on account of heavy rains and floods, but subsequently ruled weaker again, declining %2 partially on estimated heavy receipts for to-morrow. It was also estimated that the visible supply statement would show an increase. There appeared to be very little wheat on sale at the low figures. however, and when the shorts attempted to cover prices advanced, with very little effort, 1c, fluctuated and closed on the regular board 1/sc over Saturday. On the afternoon board there was a further appreciation of 1/20, but trading was ex-tremely limited. There was a lack of shipping demand here, and exports from the seaboard continue light.

There was very little action manifested in corn, and fluctuations were confined to 1/4@1/c, and closed about the same as Saturday. Receipts continue meagre, but the shipping demand is still Oats ruled quiet but moderately firm, July opion closing 1/2c higher than Baturday. Mess pork opened 71/2010c lower, but rallied 71/2 @102 again, and closed steady.

Lard ruled easy early, but closed firmer. PROVISIONS, GRAIN, ETC.

PALM LEAF FANS.

THAT IS WHAT MR. MECASLIN WANTS IN THE COUNCIL.

The General Council Convenes in Regular Session

Sunday Beef Stall Ordinance-The Li-quor Dealers Heard From Again,

The general council convened in regular

During the session the heat was oppressive. The windows and doors were thrown open but no breeze was on the market except that made by palm leaf fans. The open doors and windows admitted the noise from the streets and at times it was almost impossible to hear what was being said by the members. This state of affairs worried Mayor Hillyer. He arose and

"This noise is almost intolerable; we cught to do something to deaden it.

session yesterday afternoon.

remaked that:

"Well, I move that the petition be tabled," said Mr. May.

The motion to table prevailed.
Colonel Adair, of the waterworks commission, appeared before the council and presented a sound argument against the removal of the waterworks commission office into the present city hall. The resolution directing the removal was recommitted to the committee on public buildings and grounds.

Mr. Beatic offered a resolution repealing section 138 of the code. This section requires that in all elections for officers by the city council, to vote shall be a viva voce vote. The section has been in operation about fifteen months and, although unpopular at first, has grown in favor. It was drawn and introduced by Mr. Cooper, and the strong resistance with which Mr. Beatic's resolution was read nearly shows the present popularity of the law. When Mr. Beatic's resolution was read nearly every member was busy writing a resolution, and the mayor saked:

"What will you do with this resolution." and the mayor asked:
"What will you do with this resolution,
gentlemen?"
"What is it?" asked some one.

"To repeal the viva voce section," answere

the mayor.
"How! What! Repeal what? When?" asked Mr. McAfee, excitedly springing to his "VSection 138—The viva voce—"
"Umph!" remarked Mr. Middlebrooks, in evident disgust.

"Well, I just move we table Mr. Beatie's resolution," said Mr. Mecaslin.

The resolution was tabled, and the officers to be elected next month will know who votes for and against them.

Mr. Beatie, of the public schools committee, notified the council that the contract for the Ira street school has, been awarded to E. F. Fraciolla for $9,600; that the building is to be completed by October first. The house is to be built of river brick two stories high, eight rooms, four rooms to be completed this eight rooms, four rooms to be completed this year with slate roof. Mr. Middlebrooks, of the committee on pub-lic buildings and grounds, created a favorable impression by stating that sixty-five loads of ashes had been removed from the station house

"Now, we have disposed of that pile of ashes,' said Mr. McAfee, "I move that we take up Mr. Beatie's beef stall Sunday resolution."

The motion prevailed.
"Now," said Mr. Beatie, evidently please with Mr. McAfee's motion, "I move that the resolution go to the ordinance committee." "I move," said Mr. Mickelberry, "that the resolution be tabled." The mayor ruled Mr. Mickelberry's motion out of order, and the matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

The session was attended by Messrs. Mecasiii Gramling and Hutchison, Middlebrooks, McAfe Garrett, Kutz, Beatie, May, Mickleberry, VanWir kle, Rice, Mahoney and Kirkpatrick.

PALM LEAF FANS.

THAT IS WHAT MR. MECASLIN WANTS IN THE COUNCIL.

e General Council Convenies in Again.

The Meeting is Short But Sweet-Mr. Beatie's
Sunday Beef Stall Ordinance-The Liquor Dealers Heard From Again.

The general council convened in regular session yesterday afternoon.

During the session the heat was oppressive. The windows and doors were thrown open but no breeze was on the market except that made by palm leaf fans. The open doors and windows admitted the noise from the streets and at times it was almost impossible to hear what was being said by the members. This state of affairs worried Mayor Hillyer. He arose and remaked that:

"This noise is almost intolerable; we cught to do something to deaden it. The wagons, carriages and drays on the paved streets make it decidedly unpleasatt. The weather is too warm to permit closed doors and windows."

"Yes," remarked Mr. Mecaslin, "I think we cught to have some palm leaf fans. Some large ones—great big ones!"
"I suggest," said Mr. McA'ee, "that we buy these here cans that you wind up and then they run themselves. It's too hot to fan your-

"Here is a petition," said Clerk Goldsmith, "from the retail liquor dealers, asking for a reduction of the retail liquor license from five "I move it be referred to the ordinance committee," said Mr. Mickleberry.
"Let's hear it read," said Mr. McAfee.

The clerk read the petition.
"Well, I move that the petition be tabled," said Mr. May.

The motion to table prevailed. The motion to table prevailed.
Colonel Adair, of the waterworks commission, appeared before the council and presented around argument against the removal of the waterworks commission office into the present city hall. The resolution directing the removal was recommitted to the committee on public buildings and grounds. Mr. Beatie offered a resolution repealing sec-

Mr. Beatic offered a resolution repealing section 138 of the code. This section requires that in all elections for offloers by the city council, to vote shall be a viva voce vote. The section has been in operation about fifteen months and, although unpopular at first, has grown in favor. It was drawn and introduced by Mr. Cooper, and the strong resistance with which Mr. Beatie's resolution to repeal it met yesterday shows the present popularity of the law. When Mr. Beatie's resolution was read nearly every member was busy writing a resolution, and the mayor asked:

"What will you do with this resolution, gentlemen?"

gentlemen?"
"What is it?" asked some one. 'To repeal the viva voce section," answered

"How! What! Repeal what? When?" asked Mr. McAfee, excitedly springing to his "Section 138-The viva voce-"

"Umph!" remarked Mr. Middlebrooks, in evident disgust. evident disgust.

"Well, I just move we table Mr. Beatie's resolution," said Mr. Mecaslin.

The resolution was tabled, and the officers to be elected next month will know who votes

for and against them.

Mr. Beatie, of the public schools committee, notified the council that the contract for the Ira street school has, been awarded to E. F. Fraciolla for $9,600; that the building is to be completed by October first. The house is to be built of river brick two stories high, eight rooms, four rooms to be completed this year with slate roof. year with slate roof.

Mr. Middlebrooks, of the committee on public buildings and grounds, created a favorable impression by stating that sixty five loads of sakes had been removed from the station house "Now, we have disposed of that pile of ashes," said Mr. McAfee, "I move that we take up Mr. Beatie's beef stall Sunday resolution." The motion prevailed.

"Now," said Mr. Beatie, evidently pleased with Mr. McAfee's motion, "I move that the resolution go to the ordinance committee."

"I move," said Mr. Mickelberry, "that the

The mayor ruled Mr. Mickelberry's motion out of order, and the matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

LIVE FOR HEAVEN. Dr. Munhallat the Tabernacle Last Night--An Eloquent Sermon.

Last night the usual large congregation as-sembled at the tabernacle to hear Dr. Mun-hall. Preceeding the sermon several stirring songs were sung, the congregation manifesting a deep interest and uniting in the music with great earnestness. A fervent prayer was offered by Rev. Virgil Norcross.

Dr. Munhall then gave out the hymn "Re-

Dr. Munhall then gave out the hymn "Ned-deemed," which is now so popular. Dr. Mun-hall sang the hymn as a solo, the choir and congregation joining in the chorus. Dr. Munhall called for reports of those who Dr. Munhall called for reports of those who had been appointed to visit houses and urge the unconverted to turn to the way of lile. Several gentlemen made interesting reports of the experience they had met. One gentleman had seen over a hundred people. The reports were quite encouraging. One young man distributed a thousand handbills at the baseball

After taking his text, Dr. Munhall said: We are living in uncertainty. You can't tell about the future of yourself. But there are SOME THINGS WE MAY KNOW. God has not left us in entire ignorance. The Bible says, "For our transgressions are multi-plied before Thee, and our sins testify against us; for our transgressions are with us, and as for our iniquities we know them." I met a bright young man and he said, 'I don't believe I am a sinner.' There is not a just man. There is not one that sinneth not. He who does not know that he is a sinner is blinded by the God of this world and is not hon-est with himself. Our natures are pressing est with himself. Our natures are pressing us to transgression and we do things that are displeasing to God. God goes at the root of the matter and tells us we need a new nature, need to become a new creature. You may correct your life and be as the most moral man can live, but morality is what man is in his own sight, spirituality is what is seen in God's sight. Man needs and life. You may be as moral as you can be, but if you have the old sinful nature it will break out on you some day. If you will give yourself up to believe on Christ you will be led unto him. We are redeemed by the precious blood of Christ. We have torfeited our rights from God, and we are under the devil. Christ suffered that he might bring us to God. I was crucified with Christ. Every one who will believe in Christ was judicially put to death in the

You think you have title to mansions in the skies. You say God is too good to damn me. So he is, If you go to hell it is because you elect to go there. You say if a man does the best he can, is he not all right? Yes, but who ever saw a man do the best he could. I tell you your title is faulty. Take your case to Christ and place it in His hands, and He will take care that you are saved. He never lost a case. Dr. Munhall referred briefly to the schools and churches and benevolent institutions that are churches and benevolent institutions that are founded in Christianity. The doctor told the story of Ben Hogan, the prize fighter, who was reformed, and is now a worker in the vineyard of the Lord. He gave a number of interesting incidents in the life of Hogan, showing the SINFULNESS OF HIS NATURE. and surroundings and the obstacles that he had to surmount in becoming a Christian and living a godly life. The Christian knows that if this earthly tabernacle is dissolved, he has a house not made with hands eternal in the heavens. You made with hands eternal in the heavens. You are hurrying to the grave. Before the week is ended you may be borne to the tomb. You have got te go hence and stand betore God in judgment. Will you not turn into the way of life and be saved. When my father was on his death bed I was a wayward boy, and my mother took his hand that was too weak to raise itself and placed it on my head and my father said. ""My boy, God called me to preach His gospel, but

I NEVER RESPONDED.

I have faith that he will raise you up to preach it," and he blessed me as the old patriarchs used to do, and a few days later he died and I believe he is in heaven. died and I believe he is in heaven.

Toward the close of his sermon, Dr. Munhall gave beautiful expression to many grand thoughts, and moved many of his congregation to tears by his eloquent and pathetic appeals to those who heard him, to come to Christ and enjoy the blessings of eternal lite.

Many asked the prayers of the righteous, and a number announced their conversion.

Atlanta Investing Thirty Thousand Dollars

in Water Meters-How They Do. Very few people in Atlanta know it, but nevertheless the water consumers of the city are just now engaged in the pleasant pastime of investing about thirty thousand dollars in water meters.

There are nearly two thousand water con sumers, and the meters cost sixteen dollars apiece. Eight hundred consumers have already invested in the little measuring machines, and over a thousand people are yet to put them in.

There is quite a division of sentiment on the

There is quite a division of sentiment on the metre question, and a man who has dealt in metres all his life tells a Constitution reporter that they will soon become absolutely worthless. He says that in a clear water they will do well enough but in a muddy water like that with which Atlanta is blessed they very soon become clogged up with mud, and that the registration amounts to little short of guess work.

The effect of putting water metres on in Atlanta has been wonderful. A few months in Atlanta has been wonderful. A few months ago the water pressure was only twenty pounds, where as now the pressure is never below forty, and often runs to sixty, usually standing at forty-five or fity.

Some of the meters have been showing very small consumptions of water. Several houses have used only five cents worth of water a month, and one man's bill was six cents for three months. month, and one man's bill was six cents for three months. Another used so little water that his pipes became clegged and it cost him seven dollars to repair the damage. Under the old plan the lowest price at which water could be obtained was ten dollars and the city council on the recommendation of the board of health will require a man to use at least eighty-five cents worth of water per month. This will be about as man because of the contraction of the contractio of water per month. This will be about as much water as a man will 'need ordinarily, and will foot up about ten doilars a year. A man ought to use that much water, and if he needs any more he will pay accordingly. The East Tennessee road is the biggest water consumer in the city and pays from two hundred and fifty to three hundred dollars a month. The Kimball's bill is about a hundred and fifty a hundred and fifty.

Ernest Wachsmuth, a young German, has disappeared from the city, and his friends fear that he has committed suicide. The fact that he is in a measure demented adds to the fear that he has made way with himself or is not in safe hands. Wachsmuth has had a business at 23 East Hunter street, where he cleaned, dyed and curled estrich feathers. ALLIGATOR YARNS,

Something About the Ugly Monsters that Inhabit Southern Lagoons,

From the Pittsburg Dispatch. The crocodile of the River Ganges, in India: of the Nile, in Africa; the "Cayman" of the Amazon, in South America; the "Jacares," in the tropical possessions of Spain, and the alligator of North America, although differing in name, all belong to one and the same order of reptiles, differing in certain physical peculiarities. They are carniverous, in some cases very ferocious and consequently dangereus to man. Owing to the peculiar arrangement of their teeth, they can only devour fiesh far advanced in a state of decomposition.

In India and Africa they attain a length of from twenty to thirty feet, the American species seldom growing more than sixteen feet long, the average length being about twelve feet. One of the physical peculiarities is their bullet-proof armor. The upper parts of their slimy bodies are covered with a tough, bony series of oblong plates joined together by thick, pliable skin. In the Asiatic species the plates form a long, bony serrated ridge down the middle of the back, extending to the end of the tail. The American reptile has two ridges on his back, merging into one at the root of the tail. With the expressive mouth gaping from "eye to eye," in name, all belong to one and the same orexpressive mouth gaping from "eye to eye," and switching his powerful tail as he gambols along the sandy shore, he is truly a most repulsive and formidable creature.

A few are met with in South Carolina, but as far south as New Orleans they lie torpid in the mud four months in the year, neither eat-ing nor moving during this length of time. In spring the hot sun brings them out in full force. Below Jacksonville, Fla., on the St. Johns river, which rises several hundred miles south, amid the wilds of Lake Washington, the alligator is found in a climate exactly suited to his delicate constitution and habits. In these semi-tropical regions he never retires for the winter, like his northern contemporary, but swims sluggishly about the but swims sluggishly about the swamps and rivers seeking carrion, or sunning himself upon a dead log or moss-covered rock. South of the small city of Sanford the river extends 200 miles, not far of Sanford the river extends 200 miles, not far from the Atlantic coast, and almost into the dismal everglades. It is in this network of swampe and bayous, filled with rank grass and tall cypress and bay trees, that alligator-hunting is pursued with profit. The Florida native, a "cracker," as he is called, selects a dark, quiet night, and entering his skiff, or "dugout." places a small iron grate or eage. dark, quiet night, and entering his skiff, or "dugout," places a small iron grate or cage securely in the bow. Next he fills the cage with dry pine knots or "light-wood," and deposits a plentiful supply in the bottom of the boat. Then, with a companion to row him, he loads his rife carefully and seated in the bow of the boat right behind the jack light, gives the order to push off. Involventarily one feels awed solemnity of the suggish and warrow river, hemwaters of the singgish and harrow river, hem-med in by swanp grass ten feet high, with here and there a tree standing out like a grim sentinel in the waste of sand and water. Ocsentinel in the waste of sand and water. Oc-casionally they pass a tributary stream, and into one of these small creeks turn their boat, gliding silently along in the quiet night, with the moon rising slowly over the tall grass. Now all is changed. They dart into a dense growth of palm trees and scrub plametto. The lofty cabbage palm rears its straight trunk alott, smooth and even as a marble shaft, crowned above by a glorious foliage, while more hum-bly the many other trees indigenous to this warm climate stand with the funeral-looking Spanish moss hanging in filmy gray drapery simest to the water's edge, and the small patches of ground here and there visible, are covered with poisonous vines and lovely ferns. Here the "cracker" gives the order to cease rowing, and striking a match he lights up his cage of pine knots, illuminating the water many yards in advance. With his rifle cocked many yards in advance. With his rifle cocked and in readiness they push silently ahead. Soon what appears to be the end of a log appears a few rods in front. The boat drifts slowly forward until the little sharp eyes of a "gator" shine forth from the log-like head. He is immovable, transfixed as it were by the bright glare, and now is the time to shoot. Aiming carefully, either at an eye or behind the fore leg, he pulls the trigger, the deed is done, the huge reptile awakes from his lethargy. A gurgling roar like that of a bull, a violent plunge and powerful lashing of the long tail, indicate he has received his death wound. After this flurry, which lasts perwound. After this flurry, which lasts perhaps half an hour, the body immediately sinks to the bottom. To prevent this he is secured by a rope and anchored safely.

When a sufficient number has been shot the "cracker" proceeds to skin his game. He takes a sharp knife, and making an incision on either side from behind the foreleg, removes the silver-gray skin from the belly and sides, the armored skin on the back and tail being useless. Then, securing the teeth, he returns home, and after salting the hides they are ready for the "commission man," who, after paying the hunter about $2 per skin, packs them and ships them north, where they are carefully tanned and made into many useful articles. The hunters in Florida say this business pays them poorly, the whole profit lying with the retail dealer in the north. Other means of capturing the alligator are resorted with the retail dealer in the north. Other means of capturing the alligator are resorted to, but shooting by a jacklight is the easiest and surest method.

I have heard many curious and interesting stories of alligators told by the lank, yellow "crackers," as we smoked about the camp fire in south Florida. One story I remember well. We were sitting in the "office of a backwoods "notel" in Orange county, when the conversation turned upon the peculiarities of the alligator. He (the man) was an old, dried-up fellow, with hair of a sickly yellow. Expectorating thoughtfully into the fire, he said: "The gator dangerous? Well, he is, and again he isn't. I have seen boys swimming carelessly in a lake alive with the varmints, and when one would protrude his black shovel nose from the water the boys would shout, sing and splash, and he would wink his wicked little eyes and sink. A nigger? Well, they will tackle him if very hungry, and instances have been known when white men as well as niggers have been devoured. The people in my section are not afraid of them, and will bathe or wade in creeks where they are thick as hops.' I remember about two years ago, when traveling on business between Tangerine and Lake Eustis. I was passing through a grunting noise tis. I was passing through a piece of low hammock when I heard a grunting noise hammock when I heard a grunting noise like that of a pig. Pushing the palmetto aside, I came upon the biggest gator I ever saw. He was at least eighteen feet long, and broad in proportion. He was lying on a strip of sand, moaning and bellowing as though in pain. Upon closer investigation I found he was very old and had crawled away from the water to die. Cutting a stout club I appreached him cautiously, and struck him repeatedly on the nose and head until I killed him. I then sat upon his back and found that my feet would not touch the ground on either my feet would not touch the ground on either side, while some of his teeth were, by actual measurement, five inches long."

We swallowed this tale with commendable courtesy, and he continued: "The 'gator can live either on land or water, having a good pair of lungs and breathing a trifle more slowly than a human being. In the winter he is able to remain under an indefinite length of time, his nostrils closing automatically, like able to remain under an indennite length of time, his nostrils closing automatically, like those of a seal, and perhaps you think his jaw works like the jaw of your mother-in-law, but it don't. Your m-in-l. works the lower part of her face, but the 'gator's upper jaw is jointed, thus enabling him to seize his prey while resting his chin upon the surface. He is not to be feared on lland, being unable to turn rapidly, but in the water he sawms and dives with the rapidity of lightning. Are they numerous? Well, I should say so. Why, the St. John's river and Lake Apopka and Lake Okee-chobee are alive with them, and almost every stream in Florids, and many other southern states has a large number of them. They breed in the summer months, laying from forty to fifty eggs in the hot sand. The mother then remains in the vicinity until the sun hatches them, upon which event the little fellows, about six inches long, make instinctively for the water when went of them. time, his nostrils closing automatically about six inches long, make instinctively for about six inches long, make instinctively for the water, when many of them are eaten with much relish by the unnatural male 'gator, who, instead of feeling ashamed of himself, indulges in this diet with pride and great relish. The 'gator eats little or nothing in winter, but in summer it is fond of decayed flesh of all kinds, as I said before. He is unable to tear or chew fresh meat, owing to the formation of his sharp, white teeth, forty in all, the upper ones lying exposed over the lower jaw and the lower teeth fitting into holes in the upper jaw. For this reason he carries his victim to his lonesome haunts and carries his victim to his lonesome naunts and there waits patiently until decomposition sets in. To be sure they are not so plentiful as they were ten years ago, but the game laws are not likely to interfere in their behalf."

"I Feel So Well," "I want to thank you for telling me of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes a lady to her friend. "For a long time I was unfit to attend to the work of my household. I kept about, but I felt thoroughly miserable. I had terrible back-sches, and bearing-down sensations across me and was quite week and distions across me and was quite weak and dis-couraged. I sent and got some of the medi-cine after receiving your letter, and it has cured me. I hardly know myself. I feel so

COMPTROLLER GENERAL'S OFFICE, ATLANta, Ga., July 9th, 1883.—Dr. P. R. Holf, Eufaula, Ala., Dear Sir: I am pleased to report that I have been entirely cured of indigestion by the use of your Dyspeptic Elixir. I was induced by a friend to try it, after having tried almost every remedy knawn for my disease, without the slightest effect.
I took only three small bottles of your medicine before I was entirely well, I suffered several years, and although it has been three years since I used your preparation, I have had no return of it
